Rheumatism,
BEING due to the presence of uric acid in the blood, is most effectually cured by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Be sure you get Ayer's and no other, and take it till the poisonous acid is thoroughly expelled from the system. We challenge attention to this testimony:—
"About two years ago, after suffering for nearly two years from rheumatic gout, being able to walk only with great discomfort, and having tried various remedies, including mineral waters, without relief, I saw by an advertisement in a Chicago paper that a man had been relieved of this distressing complaint, after long suffering, by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I then decided to make a trial of this medicine, and took it regularly for eight months, and am pleased to state that it has effected a complete cure. I have since had no return of the disease."—Mrs. B. Irving Dodge, 110 West 125th st., New York.
"One year ago I was taken ill with inflammatory rheumatism, being confined to my house six months. I came out of the sickness very much debilitated, with no appetite, and my system disordered in every way. I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla and began to improve at once, gaining in strength and soon recovering my usual health. I cannot say too much in praise of this well-known medicine."—Mrs. L. A. HIS DAY IS DONE.

AT SEVENTY-SEVEN YEARS.

Grover Cleveland's Warm Tribute to Thurman and Democracy.

Celebration of the Seventy-seventh Anniversary of Ohio's Distinguished Statesman at His Home in Columbus—He Announces His Permanent Retirement from the Political Arena in the Presence of a Score of Famous Men—Over 1,000 Guests at the Banquet in the Fourteenth Regiment Armory—Speeches by Ex-President Cleveland, Don M. Dickinson, Gen. Thomas Ewing, Hon W. C. P. Breckinridge and Many Others.

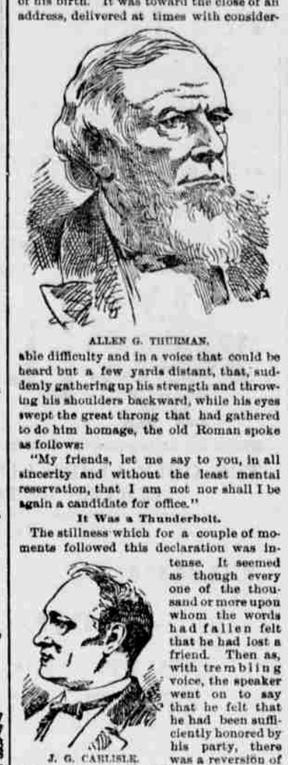
COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 14.—Ex-Senator Allen G. Thurman last night announced his absolute and unequivocal withdrawal from public life. The occasion selected by the venerable statesman for this declaration was the banquet tendered to him by the political club which bears his name in honor of the seventy-seventh anniversary of his birth. It was toward the close of an address, delivered at times with considerable difficulty and in a voice that could be heard but a few yards distant, that, suddenly gathering up his strength and throwing his shoulders backward, while his eyes swept the great throng that had gathered to do him homage, the old Roman spoke as follows:

ALLEN G. THURMAN.

"My friends, let me say to you, in all sincerity and without the least mental reservation, that I am not nor shall I be again a candidate for office."

It Was a Thunderbolt.

The stillness which for a couple of moments followed this declaration was intense. It seemed as though every one of the thousand or more upon whom the words had fallen felt that he had lost a friend. Then as, with trembling voice, the speaker went on to say that he felt that he had been sufficiently honored by his party, there was a reversion of feeling, the vast audience could no longer restrain itself; every man arose to his feet, napkins were waved, and there went forth cheer after cheer which might have been heard like the reverberation of cannon for blocks away. And amid the enthusiasm the statesman who had practically said good-by sank into his seat.



J. G. CARLISLE.

A Banquet for a King.

The banquet itself was a magnificent affair. Nothing like it has ever before been attempted in the Buckeye state. The Fourteenth regiment armory had been transformed into fairyland. The rafters of its ceiling and its whitewashed walls were hidden from view by thousands of yards of bright colored bunting and silken flags and banners innumerable. Around the floor, rising in the above tier, were the choicest products of the hot house, while above all towered majestic palms and fragrant exotics. The orchestra was hidden from view in a mass of foliage, in turn surrounded with a curtain of smilax. At the southern end of the hall, upon a platform heaped with palms and roses in bloom, were crayon portraiture statues of Mr. Cleveland and the special guest the evening. The table of honor rested upon a platform running half the length of the hall. Longitudinal with this there were sixteen tables, each with accommodation for eighty guests seated vis-a-vis. Every chair had its occupant, while there were hundreds more who, finding it impossible to gain a place on the main floor, were content to view the proceedings from the gallery.

C. S. BRICE.

The Coming of the Guests.

It was shortly after 8 o'clock when the cheering from the large crowd which had gathered on the outside announced the arrival of the distinguished guests, and when the ex-senator, arm in arm with President John J. Lentz, of the Thurman club, appeared on the scene closely followed by ex-President Cleveland and Senator Joseph McDonald, the cheering was hearty and prolonged. Mr. Thurman sat on the right of the president, his son, Allen W., being next to him, and then in succession Senator McDonald, Don M. Dickinson, W. C. P. Breckinridge, Gen. Thomas Ewing, Governor Boyd. To the left of the chair were seated Grover Cleveland, Gen. R. A. Harrison and Bishop John A. Watterson, Daniel Lamont, Governor Jackson and Senator Carlisle. Nearly two hours were occupied in discussing the elaborate menu. It was after 10 o'clock when President Lentz rapped for order, and in a few well chosen words, proposed the toast of "Our Guest." Mr. Thurman, on rising to respond, was greeted with uproarious applause which lasted several moments

Silence having been restored, he spoke as follows:

Mr. Thurman's Speech.

I am not here to-night to make an elaborate speech. I am here to express in a few sentences my heartfelt appreciation of the honor you have so kindly seen fit to do me; to thank with my whole soul my neighbors, my fellow citizens of Ohio and the distinguished gentlemen from other states for their mark of friendship and esteem. I am here at the age of 77 to repeat my testimony so often given, of my confidence in the beneficient effects of free institutions and my firm belief of their duration on this continent and their gradual but certain extension over other and larger portions of the globe. I hope that it is not presumptious in me to say that I think that I have some of the necessary qualifications of a witness on this subject. Short as my life has been, in comparison with the lives of nations, it has been long enough for me to see my native land, under free institutions, increase in population more than seven fold; in wealth in a far, very far, greater degree; in extent of territory more than double its area; in general well being and prosperity of its people and in their educational advantages and religious privileges without a rival in the world, while its magnificent works of internal improvement, its wonderful agriculture, its great mines and manufactures, and its marvelous means of communication, the creations of science and skill, surpass anything before known by the human race.

W. C. P. BRECKINRIDGE.

The Age of Liberality.

And in these seventy-seven years the constitution of nearly every government of Europe has been ameliorated by the introduction of more liberal principles. Central and South America have become a congeries of republics. Canada and Australia are substantially republics without the name, and even in the far east oriental Japan becomes more free and liberal with every revolving year. And more marvelous yet, light seems to be breaking over benighted Africa, and men of a sanguine and philosophic disposition are predicting, without exciting ridicule, her redemption from her barbaric sleep of centuries. In a word, freedom seems to be gradually circumnavigating the globe, and, proud thought for us, the polar star of the navigator is our own republic of the United States.

His Thanks to Ohio.

What I have said may seem to some like extravagant optimism; if so I have only to reply that I have always preferred opticism to pessimism and common sense to both, and that I don't think that in what I have said I have departed from the teachings of my guide.

My friends, it is seventy-one years since at 6 years of age I became a citizen of Ohio, and I have been one of her citizens from that day to this, and will no doubt remain one of her people until I shall be laid in my final resting place on earth under her sod. It would be the performance of a grateful duty on my part to speak of the uniform kindness that I have received, from boyhood to old age, from the people of this state; of the honors they have conferred upon me beyond my deserts; of the numerous and dear friends I have made and whose attachment can never be forgotten for a moment or remembered without emotion; of the distinguished men of Ohio whom I have seen and with many of whom I was intimately acquainted, and of the just pride with which I have witnessed the wonderful growth of the state until her name is known and commands respect throughout the whole civilized world. But Ohio is the theme from which you will hear from your distinguished governor, and no one is better qualified to do justice to it than he. I shall therefore confine myself to a few personal reminiscences which, if they serve no other purpose, will prove to you that it is an old, old man whom you honor so highly to-night.

The speaker went on to say that he had seen and talked with the first governor of the state, Edward Tiffin, that he had known its first United States senator, Thomas Worthington, that he had been private secretary to Governor Lucas, and seen and spoken to Gen. William Henry Harrison, and had been intimately acquainted with many other illustrious Ohioans now dead and gone. He paid an eloquent tribute to Rufus P. Ranney, the venerable and eminent lawyer, and concluded his response in these words:

His Withdrawal from Public Life.

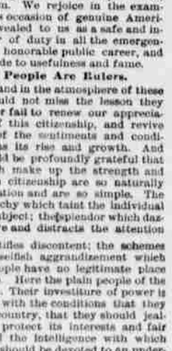
Before I conclude, there is one statement that I feel it my duty to make. In one of our town papers, a few days ago, I saw my name suggested as that of a proper candidate for the presidency or vice presidency in 1892. I regretted very much to see the suggestion, for appearing in a paper known to be very friendly to me and published in the place of my residence, it might naturally be suspected by strangers that it was inspired, or at least approved by me. But such was not the fact. I had no idea that such a suggestion would be made until I saw it in this paper.

My friends, let me say to you in all sincerity and without the least mental reservation that I am not nor shall I ever again be a candidate for office. I have been sufficiently honored by my party and neither ask nor desire any further honor than continued friendship and good will. Gentlemen, I have said enough; more, indeed, than I expected to say. Once more let me return my sincere thanks. You have gladdened the heart and brightened the footsteps of an old man, your devoted friend, in his descent of the hill of life, when he has almost reached its foot. May God bless you all is his earnest prayer.

The announcement of the next toast, "Citizenship in America," and the presentation of ex-President Cleveland to respond, was the signal for another outburst of enthusiasm. Mr. Cleveland said:

Grover Cleveland's Speech.

Mr. President and Gentlemen—I follow the promptings of a heart full of devotion and veneration, as I tender from the Democracy of the great state of New York her tribute of affection for the man whom we honor to-night. I am commissioned to claim for my state her full share of the glory which has been shed upon the American name and character, by one whose career and example cannot be pre-empted and whose renown cannot be limited in ownership to the neighbors and friends of any locality. We contest every exclusive pretension to his fame and greatness, because he is a neighbor to all the people of the land; because he is the friend of all who love their country; because his career splendidly illustrates the best and strongest elements of our national character; and because his example belongs to all his countrymen.



GROVER CLEVELAND.

It is fitting that those who have faith in our destiny as a nation, who believe that there are noble things which belong distinctively to our character as a people and who prize at its true worth pure American citizenship, should gather here to-night. It is given to us to contemplate the highest statesmanship, the most unyielding and disinterested devotion to the interests of the people, and the most valuable achievements in the cause of our country's welfare, all of which have been stimulated and accomplished through the influence and impulse of true, unperverted, sturdy Americanism. We rejoice in the example afforded on this occasion of genuine American citizenship, revealed to us as a safe and infallible interpreter of duty in all the emergencies of a long and honorable public career, and as an unfailing guide to usefulness and fame.

The Plain People Are Rulers.

In this presence and in the atmosphere of these reflections, we should not miss the lesson they commend to us, nor fail to renew our appreciation of the value of this citizenship, and revive our apprehension of the sentiments and conditions in which it has its rise and growth. And first of all we should be profoundly grateful that the elements which make up the strength and vigor of American citizenship are so naturally related to our situation and are so simple. The intrigues of monarchy which taint the individual character of the subject; the splendor which dazzles the popular eye and distracts the attention from abuses and stifles discontent; the schemes of conquest and selfish aggrandizement which makes a selfish people have no legitimate place in our national life. Here the plain people of the land are the rulers. Their investiture of power is only accompanied with the conditions that they should love their country, that they should jealously guard and protect its interests and fair fame, and that all the intelligence with which they are endowed should be devoted to an understanding of its needs and the promotion of its welfare.

Elements of American Citizenship.

A country broad and new, to be subdued to the purposes of man's existence and promising vast and independent resources, and a people intelligently understanding the value of a free nation and holding fast to an intense affection for its history and its heroes, have had much to do with molding our American character and giving it hardihood and vigor. But it should never be forgotten that the influence which, more than all other things, has made our people safe depositaries of governmental power, and which has furnished the surest guaranty of the strength and perpetuity of the republic, has its source in the American home.

Reckless and Wasteful Expenditures.

I have spoken of frugality and economy as important factors in American life. I find no fault with the accumulation of wealth, and am glad to see energy and enterprise receive their fair reward. But I believe that our government in its natural integrity is exactly suited to a frugal and economical people; and I believe it is safest in the hands of those who have been made strong and self reliant in their citizenship by self denial and by the surroundings of an enforced economy.

When, therefore, men in high places of trust, charged with the responsibility of making and executing our laws, not only condemn but flippantly deride cheapness and economy within the homes of our people, and when the expenditures of the government are reckless and wasteful, we may be sure that something is wrong with us, and that a condition exists which calls for a vigorous and resentful defense of Americanism, by every man worthy to be called an American citizen.

Upon the question of cheapness and economy, whether it relates to individuals or to the operations of the government, the Democratic party, true to its creeds and its traditions, will unalterably remain attached to our plain and frugal people. They are especially entitled to the watchful care and protection of their government; and when they are borne down with burdens greater than they can bear, and are made the objects of scorn by hard taskmasters, we will not leave their side. As the great German reformer, insisting upon his religious convictions in the presence of his accusers, exclaimed: "I can do nought else. Here I stand. God help me!" so, however much others may mock and deride cheapness and the poor and frugal men and women of our land, we will stand forth in defense of their simple Americanism, defiantly proclaiming: "We can do nought else. Here we stand."

No Conception of True Americanism.

When the promoter of a party measure which invades every home in the land with higher prices declares that "cheap and nasty go together and this whole system of cheap things is a badge of poverty; for cheap merchandise means cheap men and cheap men mean a cheap country," we indignantly repudiate such an interpretation of American sentiment. And when another one, high in party councils, who has become notorious as the advocate of a contrivance to perpetuate partisan supremacy by outrageous interference with the suffrage, announces that "the cry for cheapness is un-American," we scornfully reply that his speech does not indicate the slightest conception of true Americanism. I will not refer to other utterances of like import from similar sources. I content myself with recalling the most important and significant. The wonder is that these things were addressed by Americans to Americans. What was the occasion of these condemnations of cheapness, and what had honest American men and women done or what were they likely to do that they should be threatened with the epithets "cheap," "nasty" and "un-American?"

The Purchase of Party Success.

It is hard to speak patiently as we answer these questions. Step by step a vast number of our people had been led on, following blindly in the path of party. They had been filled with hate and sectional prejudice; they had been cajoled with misrepresentations and false promises; they had been corrupted with money and by appeals to their selfishness. All these things led up to their final betrayal to satisfy the demands of those who had supplied the fund for their corruption.

This betrayal was palpable; and it was impossible to deny or conceal the fact that the pretended relief tendered to the people in fulfilment of a promise to lighten the burdens of their life, made by the party entrusted with the government, was but a scheme to pay the debts incurred by the purchase of party success, while it further increased the impoverishment of the masses.

The Cheap Coats of Lincoln and Garfield.

The people were at last aroused and demanded an explanation. They had been taught for 100 years that in the distribution of benefits their government should be administered with equality and justice. They had learned that wealth was not indispensable to respectability and that it did not entitle its possessors to especial governmental favors. Families men with scanty incomes had been encouraged by the influence and spirit of our institutions to practice economy and frugality to the end that they might enjoy to the utmost the rewards of their toil.

Caught in the Act of Robbery.

The leaders of the party, which was caught in the act of robbery and which was arraigned by the people for a violation of its trust, were forced by their sad predicament to a desperate expedient. To attempt to reverse the current of true Americanism and discredit the most honorable sentiments belonging to American manhood, were the disgraceful tasks of those who insulted our people by the announcement of the doctrine that to desire cheapness was to love nastiness, and to practice economy and frugality was un-American.

Thus do we plainly see that when the path pointed out by patriotism and American citizenship is forsaken by a party in power for schemes of selfishness and for unscrupulous conspiracies for partisan success, its course inevitably leads to unjust favoritism, neglect of the interests of the masses, entire perversion of the mission of republican institutions and, in some form, to the most impudent and outrageous insult to true American sentiment.

"A Recent Political Revolution."

It cannot be denied that political events in the past have gone far toward encouraging arrogant party assumption. Every thoughtful and patriotic man has at times been disappointed and depressed by the apparent indifference and demoralization of the people. But such reflections have no place in the felicitations of to-night. This is a time when faith in our countrymen should be fully re-established. The noise of a recent political revolution is still heard throughout the land; the people have just demonstrated that there is a point beyond which they cannot be led by blind partisanship, and that they are quite competent to examine and correctly decide political questions concerning their rights and their welfare.

Nothing could so well accompany the honors of our distinguished guest as the celebration on his birthday of the victory which has just been achieved in vindication of American citizenship, for in him we honor the man who has best illustrated true American manhood. Our rejoicing and his are increased, as we also celebrate to-night the triumph of a Democratic principle for which he fought and fell but two short years ago; and to complete our joy and his we are permitted to indulge in true Democratic enthusiasm over the steadfastness and devotion to its creed exhibited by our party, which knowing no discouragement, has fought to victory in the people's cause.

True and Honest Democracy.

Who can now doubt our countrymen's appreciation of that trait, so well illustrated in the character of Allen G. Thurman, which prompted him throughout his long career, at all times and in all circumstances, and without regard to personal consequences, to do the things which his conscience and judgment approved, and which seemed to him to be in the interest of his country and in accordance with his Democratic faith? Who can now doubt that conscience and courage point out the way to public duty? If we entertain more solemn thoughts on this occasion let them be concerning the responsibility which awaits us as our fellow countrymen place in our keeping their hopes and their trust. We shall fail in our obligation to them if we stifle conscience and duty by ignoble partisanship; but we shall meet every patriotic expectation if, in all we do, we follow the guidance of true and honest Democracy, illumined by the light of genuine American citizenship.

CALIFORNIA GRAPES.

THEY ARE GROWN IN NEARLY EVERY PART OF THE STATE.

There Is an Area of 400,000 Acres in Vines in the United States—The Product Is 40,000,000 Gallons of Wine and 320,000 Tons of Table Grapes.

"I have no doubt that it will surprise even grape and wine growers themselves to know that there are invested in vineyards and wine cellars in the United States over $155,000,000," said Col. H. Gardner, special agent of the census office for the collection of statistics relating to viticulture, a branch of agriculture which has never before received any official attention in this country. "I find by statistics, which are now collected for the first time," said Col. Gardner, "that there are in round numbers 400,000 acres of land in this country planted to vineyards.

"This is an increase of 220,000 acres in vineyard area during the past ten years, and an increase of over $10,000,000 a year in the capital invested. Of the area of bearing vines in the country California alone has 150,000 acres, including 25,000 acres of raisin grapes. That state also has of the total investment of capital nearly $78,000,000. Between 30,000,000 and 40,000,000 gallons of wine are made in the United States in a year, of which California produces more than half. Seven-eighths of the grapes of California go to the wine press. Four-fifths of the grapes grown in all the rest of the United States are for table use. California alone grows the raisin grape.

"I spent three months in California giving official attention to its viticultural interests. Although every county in the state produces grapes, the principal counties of the vine are Napa, Sonoma, Fresno, Santa Clara, San Diego, San Barnardina and Los Angeles, although there are many others of more or less importance. The counties of Fresno, San Barnardino, San Diego and Tulare comprise the great raisin district, and cure 2,000,000 boxes a year, a product worth at least $3,000,000. The grapes grown for raisins are the Muscat of Alexandria and the Muscat del Gardo Blanco. These counties grow large quantities of wine grapes also, and the sweet wines of California come principally from that district. Fresno county has 25,000 acres of vineyards, Sonoma 21,000 and Napa 16,000.

"The grapes grown in California today include every variety that has made the vineyards of Europe famous. The cultivation of the grape in California dates back to the days of the old Spanish friars, the Franciscan fathers, who brought with them from their native land cuttings of a grape popular there. Just what the true name of the grape was nobody seems to know now, and very few care, for while there are in bearing today some of the vineyards or vines set out by the jolly Franciscans a century or more ago, the grape is not in high esteem nowadays. It has always been known as the mission grape.

"The old mission vineyard supplied grapes for the table and the wine press in California until a comparatively short time ago. Then a Hungarian grape known as the Zinfandel was introduced. This newcomer was handsome, proved to be a generous producer, and took the popular heart.

"It proved to be an unfortunate one, for it seemed so easy to grow the Zinfandel that everybody planted vineyards. When they began to bear they bore with a vengeance. The markets became choked with grapes, and prices went down to disastrous figures. It became apparent that the Zinfandel was an inferior grape after all, and to cap the climax the phylloxera came down on the Hungarian importation and bore it away, vineyard after vineyard.

"No new vineyards were replanted with the Zinfandel, and the vine is being replaced with the choicest and hardiest varieties of wine grapes from the famous districts of Europe, including Cabernet Sauvignon, Carbanet Franc, Malbock, Tarnat, Merlot and St. Laurent grapes from the Bordeaux districts; Mataros grapes from Palos; Semillons and Sauvignons from Sauterne; Pinot and Petite Sirrah grapes from the Burgundy districts; Johannisbergers, Traminers and Franken Rieslings from the storied Rhine; Chasselos grapes from Alsace-Lorraine, and the rich Burgers from Moselle. It is from these grapes that the wines of California are pressed.

"The famous Challose and Folle Blanche, cognac grapes, are also largely grown, the wine from them being made into brandy. Then there are the rich Spanish Muscats and the favorite Hungarian table grape, the Flaming Tokay. In no other vine region in the world are all these splendid grapes found growing side by side, and they make of California the wonderland of the vine.

"California has the largest vineyard in the world and the most extensive wine cellar. The vineyard is in Tehama county, on Senator Leland Stanford's famous 56,000 acre farm. It contains 4,000 acres.

"Among the curiosities of the California grape region is a vineyard that may well be called the smallest in the world as regards the number of vines, for it has but one vine. That is a most remarkable one, however, for its branches extend over a space of 12,000 feet, the cane being a foot in diameter. This extraordinary vine is over seventy years old, and was grown from an old mission cutting by a Mexican woman. It has borne grapes every year since it was two years old, and is good now they claim for six tons of grapes a year. I was told that clusters weighing seven pounds had been picked from this ancient relic of the mission days.

"The phylloxera, which during the past few years played great havoc with California vineyards, is being gradually but surely overcome. The inferior varieties of grapes upon which the pest feeds are being rooted out, and the choice foreign varieties, which are subject to it, are protected against it by grafting on native wild varieties, known as resistant vines, or vines which the phylloxera does not affect."—New York Sun.

Helping the Heathen.

He was a brisk little man with twinkling eyes, and as he stepped into the office of the hotel, wherein about twenty of us were lounging and smoking, he cheerily called out:

"Now, gentlemen, I want your attention for a moment. You have all heard of Africa? It is a country of heathens. The nigger in his natural state is a bad, bad man. He must be improved morally and religiously. I am interested in improving him."

"Now, then, you see this watch? It is not going. The hands are set to a certain figure. The man who guesses nearest to that figure gets the watch. It is fifty cents per guess, and everything over and above expenses goes straight to the heathen of Africa."

"How do you know it will?" inquired a doubting Thomas.

"Because I shall leave the sum with the landlord, to be handed to any local preacher he elects."

Eighteen of us at once laid down our "halves" and recorded our guesses, and when the last one was in the little man held up the watch and announced the winner. Then he continued:

"Gentlemen, that watch cost $2.80 at wholesale. I have received $9. There appears to be a balance of $6.20 in favor of the dusky heathen who ache for religious comfort. But let us see. My railroad fare was $4.20; dinner and supper, $1.25; two drinks, 20 cents; two games of billiards, 40 cents, and a cigar, 10 cents, making in all $6.15. Landlord, here is a nickel, and I charge you, as you are an honest man, to see that it goes to buy tracts for our fellow men in Africa. Gentlemen, good night."—New York Sun.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1890.

DMEOCRATIC JUBILEES.

A GREAT PARADE IN BLOOMSBURG.

MEETINGS AT JAMISON CITY, CENTRAL AND BERWICK.

The Democrats celebrated the election of Gov. Pattison in fine shape in Bloomsburg last week Thursday night. Delegations were present from Benton, Orangeville, Lightstreet, Espy, Afton, Rupert and Buck Horn. There were five brass bands, being the Berwick, Bloomsburg, Orangeville, Lightstreet and Afton bands. Main street was a beautiful sight. Flags and chinese lanterns and red lights were in profusion, and business places and residences were finely decorated. Among those that attracted most attention were Lowenberg's, Central Hotel, Exchange Hotel, St. Elmo, Gilmore's, COLUMBIAN, Dentler's, Alexanders', Maier's, and the Court House. The latter was specially brilliant. Lines of lanterns were hung from the pillars of the porch to the front fence. On Market Street Judge Ikeler, J. M. Clark, E. P. Billmeyer, Dr. Rutter and G. W. Sterner showed much taste in their illuminations. On Normal Hill the residences of Chairman Townsend, Dr. Gardner, Senator Hering, Mrs. Hagenbuch and others were brilliant. But it is impossible to mention all. Every democrat along the line of the parade illuminated his house and some republicans opened their windows and turned on the light while a few others closed their houses tight and put out the lights and sulked in darkness, while the Democrats were shouting outside. The line formed at Fourth and Market at 7.30, and went up Market to Main, to Normal Hill, countermarch, down East to Neal's furnace, and through all the principal streets of the town. The parade was greeted at the furnace by a big bon fire. All along the route red fire had been distributed by the committee, which was burned as the parade passed. There were several hundred horsemen in line with torches or chinese lanterns. The Lightstreet delegation included five wagons representing different industries, described in our last issue. There were about 500 footmen and many carriages. It is estimated that fully 1000 were in the parade. It was one of the most brilliant demonstrations ever seen here.

The line started at eight o'clock led by Grozer's Berwick Band followed by a large transparent banner, on the one side a Pattison Rooster with the Motto "Never defeated" while on the other could be seen Quay and Delamater engulphed by the tidal wave numbered 17,000. Many others followed with "Quay, Quay no more Quay" "Daniel, send the news to Quay," "The Democrats spiked the Republican Cannon." Coming up Main Street the sky was red with fireworks and the countermarch on Normal Hill presented a grand effect. There were no offensive banners and no boisterous conduct in the parade. Chairman Townsend specially requested that every thing of that character should be avoided.

An accident occurred at the corner of Third and Market, but no one was injured. Twenty pounds of red light in a wagon, to be set off along the route, ignited and burned all at once. Three men on the wagon jumped off and began to unhitch the horses, but the fire soon burned out. Everything passed off quietly and orderly, and altogether it was a grand jubilee. The following committees had charge of the matter: Finance, J. D. Bodine, J. K. Bittenbender, J. C. Rutter, Jr.; On Management, J. R. Townsend, W. B. Taylor, C. C. Trench, J. H. Mercer and Fred T. Ikeler. The Chief Marshall was J. H. Mercer, assistants, Thos. Gorry, C. A. Kleim, J. L. Harman, O. W. Hartzel, Chas. Ohl, G. W. Sterner, W B. Allen, A. DeShepperd, A. Herbine, Dr. Harter, G. B. Martin, C. B. Eat, G. M. Quick.

JAMISON CITY.

A fine pole was raised at Jamison City on Saturday. A big crowd was in attendance, and after the pole was up a meeting was held in the hall, and speeches were made by Col. Freeze, William Krickbaum and Fred T. Ikeler. James Dewitt was President of the meeting.

CENTRAL.

On the same day a pole was raised at Central, and speeches were made by the same speakers. Great enthusiasm prevailed.

BERWICK.

A big parade and fine illuminations took place at Berwick last Friday night. The principal streets were traversed, several bands of music were present, and a good time generally was had by the triumphant democracy.

Deafness Can't Be Cured.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound for imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed for ever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that we cannot cure by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, No. 17, 1890.

Mr. Harrison has shut his eyes to the results of the recent elections, and made up his mind to urge in his annual message to Congress the passage by the Senate of the Force bill and by the House of the notorious ship subsidy bills. In short, he has, in spite of the protests of some of the most far seeing members of his party, including Mr. Blaine, determined to cast his lot with the radical wing of the republican party. That however does not mean that the Force bill will be passed. All indications are against its passage, as it is certain that more republican Senators would now vote against it than would have done so at the last session of Congress had it then reached a vote. Mr. Harrison will also, it is said, strongly endorse the McKinley tariff act in his message. Democrats fear that these things are too good to be true. They can hardly realize that their opponents should be willing to do so much toward democratic success in 1892.

There are good reasons for believing that as soon as Congress meets bills will be introduced by republican Senators from the Northwest, modifying or repealing sections of the new tariff law which bear down heavily upon the citizens of the State they represent. It is believed that bills placing binding twine on the free list, and reducing the duty on ready made clothing would receive the votes of every republican Senator from west of the Mississippi river; and there is some talk about the combination which in return for the votes of several republican Senators from the Eastern States for these measures, shall repeal all duties upon raw materials. Such bills could easily be gotten through the House, as it is a fact well known here that at least twenty-five members of the House voted for the McKinley bill under protest, and only because they lacked the moral courage to stand the lashes of party whip which was given them unsparingly whenever they evinced a disposition to kick outside of the party traces.

Mr. Blaine is now engaged in performing his celebrated reciprocity act. He hopes to save the moribund old republican party by holding out glittering inducements to the people of what will be accomplished in the future, and by ignoring the injury inflicted upon them at this time, which they have resented so effectually by their votes. Mr. Blaine has a long head, and his brain is an active one, but he cannot bamboozle the American people, who know that real reciprocity with the whole world would be a grand thing for us, but who know also that the reciprocity with a string tied to it, provided for, or rather alleged to be provided for, by the McKinley tariff law, is a fraud pure and simple. Oh no, Mr. Blaine, the people have been jugglied with too long in the "protection" line to be caught by the false glitter of your "reciprocity".

The Treasury surplus has been reduced so low lately, that it is said completed pension cases are held up in the Pension Office because the Treasury wanted a chance to get in some more money before honoring another draft of the Commissioner of Pensions, who drew $19,000,000 last month. It becomes plainer every day that the deficit prophesied by the democrats at the last session of Congress for the next fiscal year will exist.

Not satisfied with having served notice upon Senator Quay that he must vacate his position as chairman of the Republican National Committee there is an element in the republican party that wants to depose Speaker Reed from the leadership of his party in the House, and the proposition has been boldly put forth that the complimentary nomination for speaker of the next House be given to some other republican. There might be something in this if there was anybody else to lead the republicans, but Reed is about the only prominent republican that was re-elected, and the chances are that he would have gone with the rest if the election in Maine had not taken place before the tariff bill went into effect; and they will have to follow him or nobody.

LIGHT STREET.

Rev. I. H. Corell of Williamsport, who has been a missionary to Japan for sixteen years past, preached in the M. E. church on Sunday evening, using as the basis of his remarks the 11th Chapter, 32nd Verse of Gospel by St. John, "And I, if I be lifted up from the earth will bear all men unto me". He spoke of the time when the Jesuits went to Japan to convert the whole Island. In 50 years they had converts to the number of 3,000,000, when the ruler finally passed a decree that every Missionary must leave the country under penalty of death. Some of the converts taking refuge on a certain part of the island were driven to destruction. Edicts were then placed on all the public places, denouncing the religious belief entirely. In 1868 the present Emperor was established on the throne. He ordered the edicts to be taken down. When the 11th of February 1889 dawned on that island the Emperor stepped down from his throne stating that he would not hold himself responsible for this form of Government, declaring that it should be henceforth a constitutional Government. Thus giving the people a liberty of religious freedom, numbering 38,000,000.

The election came off in July, when the Parliament, the first ever known there, will be represented by one-sixth of the number being professed christians. The first churches are being built so that the end and one side could be taken out, thus letting the passers-by hear the word of God. He also gave a lecture on Monday evening, subject, "Sunrise Kingdom."

Catarrh

Is a constitutional and not a local disease, and therefore it cannot be cured by local applications. It requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, working through the blood, eradicates the impurity which causes and promotes the disease, and effects a permanant cure. Thousands of people testify to the success of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a remedy for catarrh when other preparations had failed. Hood's Sarsaparilla also builds up the whole system, and makes you feel renewed in health and strength.

N. B. If you decide to try Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to buy any other.

"I used Hood's Sarsaparilla for catarrh, and received great relief and benefit from it. The catarrh was very disagreeable, causing constant discharge from my nose, ringing noises in my ears, and pains in the back of my head. The effect to clear my head in the morning by hawking and spitting was painful. Hood's Sarsaparilla gave me relief immediately, while in time I was entirely cured. I think Hood's Sarsaparilla is worth its weight in gold." MRS. G. B. GIBB, 1029 Eighth Street, N.W., Washington, D. C.

Are you using the old fashion rubbing board in doing your washing? If you are it will pay you to investigate into the merits of our New

After trying it we named it the "Lightning," because it struck us as being the right name for such a

Jamison City.

Things are booming up here now. The Pentecost Lumber Company is shipping large quantities of lumber and bark. Their mill is up the west branch near Baumtown. They are doing only about one-third the business they expect to do soon. A track has been built up the west branch connecting with the Bloomsburg & Sullivan, and they deliver six or eight loaded cars a day with their own engine, an old fashioned wood-burner. The branch road has been in operation a month.

Goodhue is General Manager of the tannery and of the large store, and he is just the man for the place. He is a native of Massachusetts, and a wholesouled fellow of strong Democratic proclivities. Mr. Goodhue has made many friends in this county since his coming among us.

Hill, the popular manager, has hosts of friends. The house is handsomely furnished, and the table is supplied with the best the market affords. This is the most charming resort in the county, and in the summer the house is full of guests. Fishing in season, and hunting during the winter attract visitors to this section from all over the country. It is located on the side hill, and commands a grand view of the valley from its broad verandas. Excursion parties from Bloomsburg over the B. & S. would spend a delightful day at the Manor Rest.

James Dewitt is supplying Jamison City with excellent meat. He keeps all kinds of butcher's supplies, and he has one of the finest refrigerators in the county. William Gunther is his able assistant.

Shepherd & Burchard have erected a large store and dwelling on the west branch near Perry's Hotel. The building is heated from the cellar by furnace heat. They are largely interested in timber lands.

A new post office has been established at Perry's. J. J. Burchard is the postmaster, and the name of the office is Elk Grove.

The saw mill of the Fishingcreek Lumber Company has a capacity of 75,000 to 100,000 feet of lumber a day. They are employing about 20 hands at present. This mill is one of the best equipped in the country. They are sawing very nice lumber, being provided with a trimmer. Mr. Joel Garrison is the general manager.

The Hub Factory is employing 45 hands, and is doing a great business. At this factory are manufactured hubs, brewer's shavings, veneerings, &c. It is one of the leading industries of Jamison City.

Peter J. Sult's planing mill is running full blast. He turns out doors, sash, bill lumber, and all kinds of contract work.

There are two rooms, and the teachers are W. B. Sutliff and Miss Albertson. Wesley & Smith put up the building.

R. J. Force has erected a new building to be used as a drug store and dwelling. It is a fine two and a half story building.

Dr. P. L. Hartman, formerly of Cambra, is the resident physician here, and has built up an excellent practice. He will soon erect a fine residence.

The Electric Light Company.

The Bloomsburg Electric Light Company is organized as follows: W. R. Tubbs, President, L. E. Waller, Secretary, Dr. I. W. Willits, Treasurer, C. W. Miller, J. H. Mercer, P. S. Harman and C. C. Peacock, directors. A contract has been made with the Thomson-Houston Electric Light Company for the steam and electric machinery, the price being $15775. Jonathan Bochman has the contract for the erection of the building on the lot at Eighth and Iron streets, for $2725. The price of the lot was $1500, making the total cost of the plant $20000. The building and machinery is to be ready for operation by January 1st. The capacity of the plant will be 50 arc lights and 650 incandescent lights. Dr. Talmage on Thanksgiving.

Only a few brief days and there will be a table spread across the top of the two great ranges of mountains which ride this continent—a table reaching from the Atlantic to the Pacific seas. It is the Thanksgiving table of the Nation. They come from the East and West and North and South and sit at it. On it will be smoking the products of all lands—birds of every aviary, cattle from every pasture, fish from every lake, feathered spoils from every farm. The fruit baskets will bend down under the products plucked from the peach fields of New Jersey, the apple orchards of western New York, the orange groves of Florida, the vineyards of Ohio and the nuts threshed from New England woods. The bread will be white from the wheat fields of Illinois and Michigan, the banqueters will be adorned with California gold, and the table will be a-gleam with Nevada silver, and the feast will be warmed with fire-grates heaped up with Pennsylvania coal. The halls will be spread with carpets from the Lowell mills, and when darkness comes with its heavy draperies, the lights will flash from bronzed brackets of Philadelphia manufacture. The fingers of the Massachusetts girls will have hung the embroidery; the music will be the drumming of ten thousand mills accompanied by the shouts of children let loose for play, and the gladness of harvesters driving barkward the loads of sheaves, and the thanksgivings of the nation which crowd the gates with doxologies, until the oldest harper of Heaven will not be able to tell where the terrestial song ends and the celestial song begins. Welcome, Thanksgiving Day! —T. DeWitt Talmage, D. D., in Ladies' Home Journal.

Ex-Congressman Horr.

AT THE NORMAL SATURDAY NIGHT.

Roswell G. Horr was born in the State of Vermont, November 26, 1830, but removed to Ohio when only four years old. When nineteen years of age he left his mother's home and started out for himself with a full determination to work his way through college, which he did, graduating from Antioch College in the first class in the Summer of 1857. Immediately after his graduation he was elected Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas in the County of Lorain, and served two terms, in all six years. He studied law during his clerkship, and was admitted to practice by the Supreme Court of Ohio, devoting himself to his profession for only two years. Since that time he has engaged in mining, banking and lumbering, having resided in the city of East Saginaw for fifteen years past. In the summer of 1878 he was nominated for Congress by the Republicans of the Eighth District, and was elected. In 1880 and 1882 he was returned.

Few men have ever entered the Lower House of Congress who have won such a National reputation in six years, as did Mr. Horr. He was considered one of the ablest and most ready debaters on the floor of the House, and was one of the few men who could always get a hearing in that body. His reputation as a platform speaker is really National.

He possesses a natural wit and humor, coupled with original thought and hard common sense that is really refreshing. His great lecture, "The Labor Problem," should be heard by the entire people of the Republic.

The New Steamer.

The steam fire engine purchased by the council arrived on Friday. It is a No. 4 Silsby Rotary and cost $2900. The iron work and wheels are painted red, and the polished work is nickel plated. The engine was tested on Saturday afternoon. It was drawn by four black horses furnished by W. H. Gilmore and driven by A. Noble. The first test was at the Normal school, where the highest points of the roof were reached easily by the stream. Next the plug at Market square was attached to, and one line of hose was laid up Market to the Lutheran church. When the engine was started with a pressure of 85 pounds of steam, the water soon issued from the nozzle, and climbed higher and higher until it nearly reached the topmost point of the church steeple. A little more steam was turned on, and the water reached the top of the weather vane, and still not satisfied it went higher and higher until it reached a point at least thirty feet above the vane. Then the engine was tested with two lines of hose, the second being laid down Main, and the result was equally as good. The final test was with four streams of water, and all went up high enough to cover any building in town. The engine was also tested at the canal with very satisfactory results. The hose used was the rubber lined hemp hose, and it stood the heavy pressure well. The steamer is a beauty, and is undoubtedly well made, for the Silsby has no superior. The only difficulty in the matter will be to get the engine to a fire without horses, as it is very heavy.

The steamer is made by the Silsby Manufacturing Company of Seneca Falls, New York, and is warrranted for ten years. It will throw a stream 240 feet through an inch and a quarter nozzle; two streams 200 feet through a seven-eighths inch nozzle; four streams 160 feet through five-eighths inch nozzles. This is through 100 feet of hose. It will throw one stream 180 feet through 1000 feet of hose with an inch nozzle.

California on Wheels.

A free exhibit of the products of California was given on Thursday of last week. The exhibit is contained in a train of three vestibule cars, fitted up by the State Board of Trade of California and the Southern Pacific Company. It consists of vegetables, fruits, cereals, minerals, woods and wines. The train was side-tracked near the D., L. & W. depot, and hundreds of people visited it during the day. In the afternoon it was almost impossible to get in the cars, and the crowd was so great that it was difficult to see much. The Normal School went down in a body in the morning. The first car of the special train is entirely given up to an exhibit of various beautiful specimens of California fruits, tastefully arranged along the sides of the cars in glass cases. The first case upon the left hand side is devoted to a splendid display of various kinds of nuts. Then follows an exhibit of dried fruits, apricots, apples, peaches, raisins, figs, dates, plums and numerous others, the like of which are seldom seen. The next lot of cases contain a display of silk in various stages, from the raw cocoon and the silk just unwound from it to the true thread in different hues ready to be spun and woven. Very few know that cotton is raised in the Golden State; yet the samples exhibited in this car will compare favorably with the best raised in the cotton States. The left-hand side of the coach contains various other magnificent specimens, amongst which are bananas four inches in diameter and seven inches long, weighing an average of six pounds each; a jar of red peppers, three inches in diameter, and pears weighing five pounds each. The right-hand side of this car is largely a repetition of the other side. It displays some onions twenty-four inches in circumference and weighing seven pounds each; potatoes tipping the scales at eight pounds, and quinces seventeen inches in circumference. At the rear of the car is a wire basket containing a mammoth ostrich egg, and close by is a young ostrich stuffed and mounted. This car also contains samples of wheat, oats and corn raised in California.

The second car is chiefly devoted to a display of various California wine. In the centre is a gigantic squash, weighing very nearly 200 pounds. To the front and rear are samples of various ores and timbers.

The third car is used as the living car, containing the sleeping berths and dining and sitting rooms of the delegation.

Catarrh is not a local but constitutional disease, and requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla to effect a cure.

Held Office 40 Years.

Wm. C. Johnston, Esq., of this place, died at his home on Market street, Thursday morning, about five o'clock, of pneumonia, aged about 74 years.

The deceased was born in Columbia County, Pa., (in what is now Derry twp., Montour county). About the year 1848 he was admitted to the bar in Columbia county. On the formation of Montour county in the year 1850 he was elected the first Register and Recorder, and has been repeatedly re-elected at the close of each official term, and held the office to the date of his demise, a period of about forty years. It is very rare in the history of counties in Pennsylvania that an official can be found who has consecutively held an elective office for so long a period. It is a testimoniel to the competency, efficiency and integrity of the deceased, and of the confidence reposed in the incumbent by his constituency.

Mr. Johnson was an old and honored member of the Masonic fraternity. He joined the organization in the year 1847, Danville Lodge, No. 224. He was also a member of the degree of Knights Templar, Commandery 37. He was also a member of the Odd Fellow's organization, being a member of Montour Lodge 109.

He died at a ripe age. He was a kind and loving husband and father, a consistent Christian, a most clever neighbor and friend and one who commanded the entire respect of the community in which he lived.

The interment took place on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The burial services were held under the auspices of Knights Templar, Commandery, No. 37.—Danville Intelligencer.

To The Laboring Men.

Every man who earns his bread by hard work should hear Hon. R. G. Horr on Saturday night. There is perhaps not another man in the United States who has given the question of the relation of capital and labor so much study as he has. He is brim full of fun, and is one of the few men that can combine good common sense and true wit so that each helps the other.

Brown's Sarsaparilla

The heritage of which every human being is almost as certain as he is of air, sunlight and breath, is Scrofula Humor. Poor diet and insufficient food, ill ventilation, filth, and dampness, all assist the slumbering germs of Scrofula to overpower the vitality of the body and run riot in the system. The blood in its process of renewing the waste cannot expel any inherited taint of weakness or impurity. It can only be removed by the action of some purifying medicinal agency, which assisted by nutritious food, well digested and assimilated into blood, gradually insures the possession of sound health. Such a renovating remedy has Brown's Sarsaparilla proved itself to be.

The Jamison City Robbery.

The burglary at the store of T. E. Proctor at Jamison City has been reported in several ways, and we have taken pains to procure the particulars. The thieves entered the store through the ice house at the rear. They first entered a door about fifteen feet from the ground, and after getting inside they had to descend again to the floor of the ice house about the same distance, and from there they went up over the ware house garret and down through a trap door, then they cut through a panel and got into the main store room. They seemed to have made a thorough inspection of the contents of the store. Everything was turned topsy turvey. On the floor they left all their old clothes, consisting of hats, coats, pants, shoes, suspenders and underwear. One of them evidently had on three woolen shirts, one over the other, one a fine pair of camel's hair drawers. These were isoiled and had never been washed, and were probably stolen somewhere else. A pair of pants left had the cost mark on yet, and among other things left was a red handkerchief that had been worn around the neck. They left a purse, and a small 32 calibre revolver with iron handle. They took away with them about seven overcoats, two dozen fine woolen shirts, all the jewelry in a show case, including watches; knives, razors, pocketbooks, four large valises, tobacco, cigars, two halter straps and a number of suits of clothes. They took so much that they must have had a team near at hand, or there were not less than four robbers. About a quarter of one a light was seen in the store by Samuel Michaels and also by Mr. Wolf and another man. At the same time two men were seen at the depot apparently drunk, but it is supposed that they were of the party, and that their boisterous conduct was assumed for the purpose of distracting attention from the store when anybody was seen on the street. No arrests have yet been made, and it is strange that no men have been seen anywhere loaded down with plunder as these men must have been.

On Friday preceding four tickets were stolen from the station at Lightstreet to Jamison City, and on Thursday some were stolen from the Stillwater station to Jamison City. At Stillwater the agent noticed two men sitting in the waiting room in the evening, and while he was at supper they got over the partition into the office and helped themselves. The waiting rooms are always left open, and the offices are separated from the waiting-room by a partition that does not extend to the ceiling. Whether they were the same men or not is not known. They are probably members of the same gang that have been operating through this region.

STAR COURSE.

The next entertainment of the "Star Course" will be held Friday evening, Dec. 5, and will be a lecture by Mr. John R. Clarke on "To and Fro in London."

Mr. Clarke is comparatively a new man before American audiences, but has already achieved an enviable reputation as a lecturer, having delivered the lecture "To and Fro in London" over 1000 times in the United States. He has received more than the average number of recalls, which is the strongest evidence of a successful lecturer. In Chambersburg he lectured four times in one season and was ten times in St. Catherines, Canada, in 2 years.

Mr. Clarke not only touches on the serious side of life but gives the witty and humorous side also, and is also a good inimitable mimic and good vocalist.

The lecture by Mr. W. M. R. French Wednesday evening was very pleasing and all who heard it were fully satisfied that the management were sustaining their promises for a first-class course.

It Is a Mistake

To try to cure catarrh by using local applications. Catarrh is not a local but a constitutional disease. It is not a disease of the man's nose, but of the man. Therefore, to effect a cure, requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, acting through the blood, reaches every part of the system, expelling the taint which causes the disease, and imparting health.

A Difficult Surgical Operation.

On Saturday, Nov. 15th, Dr. Gardner assisted by Dr. Reagan of Berwick, Reber, Robbins, McReynolds, and H. C. Hower of this place, performed the difficult operation of exsecting the second branch of the fifth pair of nerves for the relief of facial neuralgia, on Mrs. Dora Lyons of Pine Summit. The operation consisted of making a V shaped incision from each angle of the eye one and one-half inches long, exposing the bone of the face, cutting through the bone the size of a quarter of a dollar, dissecting the nerve, which the bone covers, for two inches and cutting it off near the brain. This bone dissection was made with the surgical engine which cut through the bone rapidly, the operation lasting one hour. The patient has had no pain since the operation.

What People Say of Ex-Congressman Horr.

O. C. Beck, Esq., of Moorehead, Minn., says of Hon. R. G. Horr's lecture on The Labor Problem:

"I would have given $5 to hear that lecture. It was worth the cost of the whole course."

W. B. Douglass, Esq., says:

"It doubled and trebled any lecture of the course. Mr. Horr is chock full of fun, and he lets it out in great shape. His views, too, are solid and sound, he has an apt way of expressing himself so that all understood it."

Pensions! Veterans!!

The Disability Pension Bill.

Act of June 27, 1890, grants pensions to all ex-soldiers and sailors who served 90 days or more in the Army or Navy during the rebellion, and were honorably discharged, and who are now suffering from any permanent, mental or physical disability contracted since the war or during the war whether from disease, injuries or effects of old age, at the rate of from $6 to $12 per month, according to the degree of his disability for the performance of labor requiring the exertion of physical strength; provided the disability is not due to vicious habits. This pension is not restricted to the veterans who have to make their living by hard labor, but is equally due to professional men or clerks, provided they have an existing disability which would prevent the continuous exercise of the physical strength of an able-bodied man.

Those who have applied under the general laws and who are unable to prove up the pending claim can apply for and secure this pension and then continue the prosecution of the former claim and secure their arrears.

If you are now drawing a small pension, say $2 or $4 per month, you can take this pension instead, and if you have an application on file for increase or additional pension for new disabilities you can continue the prosecution of such claims while drawing the new pension, or you can file an original claim for a disability contracted in the service while drawing pension under this new act.

Widows, children, and dependent mothers and fathers are entitled under this act and can suspend the prosecution of any pending claim, and take this pension, and afterwards complete the prior claim and get arrears.

Having been duly appointed an Agent according to the rules and regulations of the Department of the Interior in the prosecution of such claims and having had success in a number of cases I am always prepared to give information and assist claimants, and will assure them success if they are able to establish the facts as required by law.

Those interested should call soon and claim their reward.

What Cures?

EDITORIAL DIFFERENCE OF OPINION ON AN IMPORTANT SUBJECT.

What is the force that ousts disease; and which is the most convenient apparatus for applying it? How far is the regular physician useful to us because we believe in him, and how far are his pills and powders and tonics only the material representatives of his personal influence on our health?

The regular doctors cure; the homœopathic doctors cure; the Hahnemannites cure; and so do the faith cures and mind cures, and the so-called Christian scientists, and the four-dollar-and-a-half advertising itinerants, and the patent medicine men. They all hit, and they all miss, and the great difference—one great difference—in the result is that when the regular doctors lose a patient no one grumbles, and when the irregular doctors lose one the community stands on end and howls.—Rochester Union and Advertiser.

Nature cures, but nature can be aided, hindered or defeated in the curative process. And the Commercial's contention is that it is the part of rational beings to seek and trust the advice of men of good character who have studied the human system and learned, as far as modern science lights the way, how far they can aid nature and how they can best avoid obstructing her.—Buffalo Commercial.

It is not our purpose to consider the evils that result from employing the unscrupulous, the ignorant, charlatans and quacks to prescribe for the maladies that afflict the human family We simply declare that the physician who knows something is better than the physician who knows nothing, or very little indeed about the structure and the conditions of the human system. Of course the does not know it all."—Rochester Morning Herald.

I have used Warner's Safe Cure and but for its timely use would have been, I veribly believe, in my grave from what the doctors termed Bright's disease.—D. F. Shriner, senior Editor Scioto Gazette, Chillicothe, Ohio, in a letter dated June 30, 1890.

It Saved My Life.

After suffering for twelve years from contageous Blood Poison, and trying the best physicians attainable and all the patent medicines procurable, and steadily continuing to grow worse, I gave up all hopes of recovery, and the physicians pronounced the case incurable. Hoping against hope I tried S. S. S. I improved from the first bottle, and after taking twelve was cured, sound and well, and for two years have had no return or symptom of the vile disease. As I owe my life to S. S. S. I send this testimony for publication.

National Reform Conference for Columbia County, Pa.

HELD IN BLOOMSBURG NOV., 3, AND 4, 1890.

The Conference for Columbia County, already announced in these columns, met in the Court House at a quarter to eight o'clock on Monday, the 3rd inst. Notwithstanding the excitement on the eve of an important election, the Court House was well filled. The venerable David J. Waller Sr. conducted the devotional exercises. He said: "We are gathered in a temple of justice, and it is fitting that we should read the law on which as a foundation all human laws repose." Then he read the Ten Commandments, some selections from the New Testament concerning the Sabbath, and the divine law of marriage from the second chapter of Genesis, and offered a fervent and very comprehensive prayer. A volunteer choir of some fifteen voices led in the singing, and the Rev. Mr. Galloway of the Baptist church, offered a touchingly earnest supplication for the mercy of God to be shown to the nation. Mr. Waller then introduced Col. John G. Freeze as the presiding officer for the evening. Col. Freeze is Chancellor of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Central Pennsylvania. In a few well chosen words he referred to the importance of the question proposed for discussion, and introduced Prof. J. P. Welsh of the Normal School, to speak on "The influence of the Bible on our Public Education." Prof. Welsh made a brief but most effective argument in behalf of the Bible in the Schools. The Corresponding Secretary of the National Reform Association, who had presented the cause in the Presbyterian and Lutheran churches on the preceeding day, then spoke on "The Peculiar Theory of Education." The Rev. D. J. Waller, Jr., Superintendent of Public Instruction for Pennsylvania in behalf of the Committee on Resolutions then submitted the following:

Whereas, The office of the public schools is to promote intelligence and moral character, and

Whereas, The Bible is infinitely superior to all other books as a means of developing moral character, therefore Resolved, That the Bible should not be omitted from the list of text books adopted by Boards of Directors of our public schools.

This was discussed by several speakers and cordially adopted. After notices, the Conference then adjourned until the following day.

TUESDAY'S SESSIONS.

A meeting of the pastors and a few of the principal citizens was held in the afternoon of the following day, at which a permanent committee was appointed to co-operate with the National Reform Association in Columbia County. Of this committee the Rev. Isaac M. Paterson was made Chairman, and Mr. W. H. Brooke, secretary. Other members of the Committee were the Rev. Dr. D. J. Waller, Jr., the Rev. David J. Waller, Sr. the Rev. J. P. Tustin, the Rev. Mr. Auman, the Rev. Mr. Sears, Prof. J. P. Welsh, Prof. J. F. Harkins, and the following persons to whom specific departments of work were assigned: the Rev. W. C. Leverett Special Secretary for Divorce Reform; Prof. Hartlein, the Bible in the Schools the Rev. P. A. Heilman, Sabbath Observance; the Rev. W. T. Galloway, the Suppression of Blasphemy; Mrs. J. P. Welsh, Young People's Societies; Mrs. M. C. Walker, Temperance Work and the W. C. T. U.; Mr. Rodman Drinker the circulation of Petitions. The Committee was empowered to add to its members.

At the evening session addresses were made by E. H. Little, Esq., on "Sabbath Desecration by Corporations; by the Rev. Isaac M. Patterson on "The Right of the Workingman to the Sabbath;" by the Rev. W. C. Leverett on "Divorce Reform—the Responsibility of the Church," and by the Rev. T. P. Stevenson on "The Responsibility of the Commonwealth Touching Marriage and Divorce." The following resolutions were then presented in behalf of the Committee on Resolutions and were adopted by a rising vote:

Resolved, That since the Sabbath is a witness for God in human life, and "a sign between God and man," to renounce the Sabbath would be openly to renounce as a nation, our relation to God. The public desecration of the Sabbath, is, therefore, not only a sin against God, but an offense against the Commonwealth, and ought to be restrained by law.

Resolved, That all citizens have a right to claim the protection of the civil law in the quiet observance of the Sabbath: and as the President of the United States is expressly exempted by Constitution from attending to public business on that day, the rights of all our citizens should be defended by equal safeguards.

Resolved, That we regard "Sunday Mails," "Sunday Railroad Trains," and "Sunday Newspapers" as an unholy triple alliance against the sanctity of the Sabbath and the rights of the People to a day of rest.

By a separate standing vote the audience was requested to pledge themselves to discountenance and oppose Sunday newspapers. About two-thirds of those present rose to their feet.

Although the excitement attending the election interfered with the attendance, still the court-house was more than half filled with an interested and attentive audience.

The friends of the cause throughout the country will watch with interest the work done by this auxiliary Committee.

Swelling in the neck and all other forms of scrofula, salt rheum, and etc., are cured by Hoop's Sarsaparilla.

John Gifford, residing at Sugartown Chester county was Saturday last made happy by a bullet dropping from his shoulder which he has carried there for over thirty-seven years. It was shot into his flesh by an Indian in a battle in which Gifford participated, and during the last score of years it has given him much pain. To-day the pain was greatly increased, and while he was moving about the house the bullet fell to the floor, since which he has been greatly relieved. It is a large, old-fashioned bullet, and shows to have been made by the old mould process.

A. K. McClure, of the Philadelphia Times; Thomas V. Cooper, chairman of the State Republican committee of Pennsylvania, and party, spent Friday in Birmingham. They were shown over and around the city. Mr. McClure, in an interview, said he came to see the ful-fillment of his prediction made ten years ago that Alabama would sell iron in Pennsylvania below cost price there and would ultimately become the centre of iron production in this country. He also said Alabama is the richest State in the Union in natural resources and Birmingham is the centre of her wealth and development. They left then for Chattanooga.

For some time past Hugh Stewart, aged 31, a cooper by trade and a native of Scotland, has been neglecting his work and living off his sister, Mrs. Boyd Gilmore, who resides on Eleventh avenue, near Seventh street Altoona. Last Friday afternoon, while intoxicated, Stewart went to the house and began smashing the Furniture. He was remonstrated with, but to no effect. His nephew, Boyd Gilmore, aged 17, finally put him out. At this Stewart became greatly angered and saying he would leave a couple of corpses in Altoona started to break in the door.

Young Gilmore tried to keep him out, but, not succeeding, picked up a heavy base ball bat and struck him on the head. Stewart fell and was carried into the house, although it was not known he was severely hurt. Late in the evening he fell into a stupor and at 5 o'clock this morning he died. At the Coroner's inquest it was found that his skull had been fractured.

The boy is highly spoken of and has the sympathy of all who know him.

A Ray of Hope.

For all who are held by the chains of scrofula or other diseases of the blood comes from Hood's Sarsaparilla, which by imparting the elements of good health and strength to the vital fluid dissolves the bonds of disease and sets the captive free. No other remedy in existance combines the positive economy; the peculiar merit and the medicinal power of Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Last Friday morning as a train of eighty-one freight cars was coming down the steep grade on the Reading Road, just outside of Shamokin the trainmen lost control of it. The rails were slippery, the brakes useless and down towards the coal docks the train rushed at a terrific speed. Engineer Fry, of Tamaqua, held fast to the throttle, though his fireman jumped, until he saw that collision with some coal cars at the dock was inevitable. Then he, too, jumped and his train crashed into the cars and hurled them with a shifting engine down the embankment at the side of the trestle work.

The crew of the shifting engine saw the runaway train approaching and escaped in time. Engineer Fry was only slightly bruised, as also was his fireman, and the breakmen were unhurt. It was a miraculous escape. Both engines and numerous cars were smashed, and before the debris could be cleared away a temporary track had to be laid. The loss to the Reading Company will be heavy.

Theodore M' Dowell Expires at Williamsport

Theodore McDowell, who for the past six months or more has been mmsking his home with his son-in-law, Joseph Gann, No. 237 Market street Williamsport died at an early hour last Thursday morning under most distressing circumstances, and the news of his death will be learned with sincere regret by a very large circle of friends.

The particulars of this popular gentleman's death, are as follows: Mr. McDowell had gone to Gohl & King's grocery store about 6 o'clock last evening on an errand for his daughter Mrs. Gann, and returned in a few moments, after which he began reading a newspaper. A few moments later his daughter noticed his head droop slightly as though sleepy, but he said nothing, arising and walking to ward the stair steeps, at the foot of which he sank down, and called for assistance. Mrs. Gann hurried across the room and by this time he had began vomiting and said he was awful sick. Mr. Gann was sent for as were a number of physicians, and the unfortunate gentleman was assisted to a couch. Drs. Rich, Lumley and Hunt were soon at the house, but pronounced the case one beyond all human aid. Mr McDowell's condition weakend rapidly, and about 4 o'clock this morning his spirit "departed to eternity. His death was due to apoplexy. He was nearly seventy years of age, and leaves two sons and thre daughters to mourn his demise. Charles, a son, the inventor of the German drafting machine, William, Emma and Flora are all at present residing in New York city, and Mrs. Gann, of Williamsport.

Theodore McDowell has spent a very active life, and even at his advanced age was well preserved. His home was at Lightstreet, a pretty little village about two miles north of Bloomsburg, in Columbia county, and it is largely due to his integrity and entrerprise that the town has gained the prominence which it enjoys. Many years ago when blast furnaces were first built Mr. McDowell, together with several other men, established a furnace at Ligight Street, and for many years employed quite a number of men in prepairing iron for the market, the furnace having the preparing iron for market, the furnace having the reputation of producing some of the finest iron known. During his lifetime deceased, through thrift and energy, acquired considerable wealth, and the McDowell homestead, situated at the head of the main street of Light Street is a model of comfort and rural beauty Here he and his family lived for many years, and none enjoyed a higher distinction in that section of the country than did the name of McDowel. For the past fifteen years deceased has lived a retired life. He was a devout Christian, a member of the Methodist church, and a consistent worker. The remains were buried in the cemetary at Light Street on Saturday.

In The Dark.

Dr. Koch's Triumph.

Berlin, Nov. 16—Professor Koch holds supreme sway over public interest. The publication of the excitement has intensified the excitement both here and abroad, and from every counter of Europe and America telegrams of inquiry are pouring in on Koch, Pfuhl, Cornet, Bergman and other medical men who are known to be engaged in treating patients by the new method. Koch's clinic in Albrecht's strasse, the Imperial Sanitary institute, Reichsgesundheitsanit, where Cornet and other Kochists are at work, are swamped with letters and personal applications.

Many medical men, including a number of English and American physicians, have been studying the process under Dr. Levy, in the same wards of a private hospital at No. 26 Preuz'auer strasse, where Professor Koch first achived striking results with small means. Here since October eight prominent cures of consumptives have been in progress.

The secret of the composition of the lymph has been communicated to Professors Bergmann, Fraentzal, Brieger, Levy and other intimates of Professor Koch here also to Professor Weigert, of Frankfort; Dr. Rast, chief of the Hamburg hospital, and Professor Nothnagel, of the Viena university.

Professor Nothnagel, addressing the students of the university, said; "We face one of the greatest intellectual achievements in the province of medicine for centuries past. Professor Koch's discovery has a far wider scope than Jenner's, and is perhaps the grandest feat in the history of our science. What inspires me with admiration is not so much the actual discovery as the method of bacterological research, which must serve as the basis of all future discoveries in that line. The present moment is among the most sublime that humanity has known."

Professor Billroth holds that Professor Koch's method places it beyond doubt that a remedy will be found before long for cancer, which is still the greatest mystery in medicine, as experience indicates that carcinoma has a bacilic organ.

A Man Chopped to Pieces.

A man who can never be identified was torn to shreds by a Pennsylvania railroad passenger train at Metuchin. The train was stopped and just one hour and ten minutes was spent in picking the pieces of the man from the machinery of the locomotive, its wheels and the front wheels and truck of the baggage car, placing them in a bag. Old railroaders say it was the worst case of a man chopped to pieces they had ever seen. The stoppage of the Pennsylvania train delayed a Lehigh Valley passenger train nearly an hour.

RAIN! RAIN! RAIN!

If there's one set of men who appreciate a good waterproof coat it is the farmer. He knows that a "Fish Brand Slicker" costs him less per year than any garment made. Did you know it rains or snows one day in three the whole year through? A "Fish Brand Slicker" makes every day a pleasant day to its lucky owner. Go anywhere with it in rain, hail, sleet, snow, or blow, it is wind and water proof. Costs less than rubber, and lasts ten times as long. Rubber is good for show days, but will rip in a week. If you want a coat for hard wear and hard weather, get the "Fish Brand Slicker." Every good thing has its imitation, so has the "Fish Brand Slicker." Look out. Beware of worthless imitations, every garment stamped with "Fish Brand" Trade Mark. Don't accept any inferior coat when you can have the "Fish Brand Slicker" delivered without extra cost.
